

Frequency Meter Set I-129-B

This set can be considered as the simplest frequency meter available: each module is a simple LC resonating circuit and the resonance causes a current change in the monitored RF source. This set was supplied by Hickok, as indicated on the label, but the modules and probably also the carrying case were made by James Millen. The three modules cover from 1.5 to 18 MHz.