

BX2004 – Beam Switch Counter

BX2004 was a shielded variant of the Beam-X counting family. It was used in automatic Xerox copier machines. Unfortunately no data available.

The story and the operation of the 'trochotron' beam switching tube can be found in this article.