

Marantz 3300 - Control Console

The 3300 Stereo Control Console, usually found in conjunction with either Model 250 or Model 500 stereo power amplifiers, was intended to handle both input signals to the power amplifier and outputs, from the power amplifier to two speaker systems or phones.

In input the 3300 accepted two record players, one tuner and two auxiliary hi-level devices. Connectors for two tape decks were provided, as well as the output jack for driving a center channel amplifier.